Cover Page

The curved wood trestle on Jim O'Connell's CCRR Northern Division layout creaks under the weight of a freight train that is crossing it. The train is headed by an aging 4-6-0 of the Central California Railroad. Photo: Jim O'Connell

January

The era I layout of Karl Sinn impresses with its realistic looking vegetation. No small detail has been forgotten. And so also Märklin's Prussian passenger train, headed by a T 18, looks very well. Photo: Jens Wimmel

February

The International Toy Fair has come and with it the 40th anniversary of Z scale. The class 103 loco and the TEE „Rhinegold“ remind us this event. This item running on Karl-Friedrich Ahnert's layout has been the first electric prototype in 1974 of the Z scale line.

March

Let's have a look to Canada: The heavy Diesel locomotive SD 40-2 #747 of BC Rail, based on a MTL item and reconstructed by Gerd Kurz, is switching in Jasper/Alberta. Easily to see is that the loco is doing a hard job every day. Photo: Jens Wimmel

April

May

The historic RhB train is running on an extremely realistic looking curved viaduct that connects two parts of a mall valley in Switzerland. The creator of this scenery, Florian Dignath, is one of the pioneers of Zm line.

June

Nice to see is the Southern Germany layout with the Alps in the background by Karl-Heinz Wobschall. In its central station we meet two representatives of younger Z scale history: The electric class 150 by Märklin was still made in China and got some private specifications, the Köf 2 switcher by Z-Modellbau is a solid construction handmade in Germany.

July

The Re 4/4" by SZL in Swiss Express colours is carrying a short mail train on Jens Wimmel's Julierbahn layout. Behind the electric locomotive there are three Swiss mail box cars type PTT Z2 which were produced by FR for ZettZeit. Photo: Jens Wimmel

August

September

In the sunset light of a warm late summer day we meet the Austrian crocodile #1189.002 by SMZ in Jaffa colours. It has been the only one of this type which is very similar to the Swiss crocodile that got this livery in 1971. Photo: Claudius Veit

October

Impressive image of the flat land around the Ems region railway in a seventies' autumn: Inspired by a historic photo by Udo Paulitz the heavy steam loco class 043 of the depot Rheine is heading a tank car train from Salzbergen running to the South through night-light.

November

The until now biggest Z scale steamer met us at the National Train Show 2011. David Lancaster's 4-6-6-4 "Gray Goose" Challenger of the Union Pacific, an AZL item, is heading a passenger train on a modul by Hien Nguyen. Photo: Robert J. Kluz

December

Even the dark season has its special charms. In deep snowed Blumendorf at christmas time we see a „rail bus“ class 798/998 stopping at the station. The lights of the lanterns, in the house, in the train and of the christmas tree give an interesting sparkling to the ice hanging down the roof boarder.
